

Las Vegas hotels dominate the list of most searched U.S. hotels according to TripAdvisor

March 19, 2001-- TripAdvisor, Inc. (www.TripAdvisor.com), the search engine that delivers the world's opinion on travel, today announced the top five U.S. hotels which received the most search traffic in the month of February. Leading the list is the Bellagio in Las Vegas.

"Hotels in Las Vegas are in a class of their own. Offering much more than simply a place to lay your head, our hotels are an attraction unto themselves, offering the best in service and amenities," said Rossi Ralenkotter, vice president of marketing for the Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority (LVCVA).

The top five U.S. hotels most searched in the month of February on TripAdvisor.com are as follows:

1. Bellagio in Las Vegas, Nevada
2. Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Nevada
3. The Fairmont in San Francisco, California
4. Omni Royal Orleans in New Orleans, Louisiana
5. New York New York Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, Nevada

TripAdvisor's search and directory services offer both interactive search capabilities and a targeted directory structure that focuses solely on travel. TripAdvisor's robust and scalable database is filled with relevant, unbiased, and "hard to find" travel information catalogued by destination and travel interests. Compiling "the world's opinion" within one web site provides travel consumers with the information they need to make informed purchase decisions more quickly and easily.

<https://tripadvisor.mediaroom.com/2001-03-19-Las-Vegas-hotels-dominate-the-list-of-most-searched-U-S-hotels-according-to-TripAdvisor>