

TripAdvisor Names The 10 Hottest U.S. Destinations For Summer Summer Vacation Value Report Reveals Prices at Seasonal Hot Spots with a Guide to Highly-Rated Hotels, Restaurants and Experiences Plus, Survey Shows More Americans Traveling this Summer; TripAdvisor Pricing Data Surfaces Memorial Day Among Least Expensive Weeks for a Summer Vacation

NEEDHAM, Mass., May 15, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- TripAdvisor®, the travel planning and booking site, today revealed its 2018 Summer Vacation Value Report, highlighting the top 10 domestic destinations for U.S. travelers this summer based on the greatest increase in seasonal hotel booking interest, including the average one-week vacation costs for hotels and airfare. The report helps travelers discover savings at popular summer travel destinations by identifying the least expensive summer week to visit with great value hotels, popular restaurants and must-do experiences.

While the report highlights the most popular summer destinations, a recent TripAdvisor survey also found that summer travel is on the rise. TripAdvisor surveyed more than 3,300 U.S. travelers, revealing that 87 percent are planning a summer vacation, up six percent from last year. Of those respondents, 91 percent will travel domestically and the Northeast (27 percent) projects to be the most popular U.S. region for a summer trip. Almost half of Americans will plan a beach/ocean getaway (47 percent), while 38 percent are planning city trips.

"TripAdvisor crunched the numbers and found that travelers can save big on their summer vacation, even in the most popular summer spots, by knowing where to book and when to go," said Brooke Ferencsik, senior director of communications for TripAdvisor. "It's not too late to find outstanding summer travel deals and the report shows that the week of Memorial Day offers some of the lowest prices, up to 33 percent less than peak summer rates. At home or on vacation, TripAdvisor's mobile app can help travelers find great recommendations for the best places to stay, eat and play, without breaking the bank."

The 10 Hottest U.S. Destinations for Summer 2018

(Ranked by greatest increase in booking interest from spring to summer)

1. Mackinac Island, Michigan

This charming island is a throwback to old-timey seaside leisure with the candy-colored facades of downtown shops. Mackinac is world-famous for its homemade fudge and travelers can work off sugar highs by exploring the limestone bluffs of Mackinac Island State Park.

For travelers planning to book a trip to these popular destinations, or any others this summer, there are still deals to be had. TripAdvisor recently issued its best time to book hotels for this summer report revealing that it's typically within a month of a summer trip when travelers can save up to 40 percent compared to peak rates. For domestic U.S. flights, TripAdvisor Flights data similarly shows that booking three to four weeks out from a summer trip is when travelers can often find the lowest prices, and can save up to 58% compared to peak summer airfare.

Methodology

Top destinations for U.S. travelers for summer based on destinations seeing the greatest increase in seasonal hotel booking interest from spring to summer 2018 on TripAdvisor. All hotel and airfare prices are based on trips departing and returning between June-August 2018.

Avg. Summer Nightly Rate is the average cost of a one-night stay in a hotel available on TripAdvisor for June-August 2018.

Avg. Summer Domestic Round-Trip Airfare includes the average domestic round-trip airfare to each destination based on searches conducted through TripAdvisor Flights on 5/4/18 from ATL, DFW, JFK, LAX, ORD and SFO.

Avg. Summer Week Expense per Person is representative of a one-week trip including a seven-night hotel stay and U.S. domestic roundtrip average airfare for one person.

Least Expensive Summer Week is based on the average summer hotel rate during the least expensive summer week.

Percent savings determined by comparing the cost of the least expensive week to the summer average.

Survey statistics based on a TripAdvisor survey of 3,368 U.S. travelers, conducted in May 2018.
